GARDEN CONCERT

GAVE CAMP $795

Councilmen Incorrectly Informed About That 70 Per Cent., Says Mr. Scott.

SOCIETY GOT REAL BIG LIFT

Manager of Miss Garden Deal Most Liberally With Tuberculosis Society.

Members of the Council Committee on Grounds and Buildings, who stated in open meeting Thursday night, as published in this newspaper yesterday, that Mary Garden got 70 per cent. of the gross receipts, while Pine Camp received only an insignificant part, received only an insignificant part of the proceeds from a concert recently given at the City Auditorium, were incorrectly informed, according to a statement made last night by Fred W. Scott, treasurer of the Pine Camp Society.

The impression went forth as a result of the committee's discussion that the tuberculosis home received less than $200, while the record shows that Miss Garden's concert gave it $795.53.

Mr. Scott's statement was published in the statement heretofore published. Mr. Scott said:

"The Tuberculosis Camp Society received as their share of the proceeds of the concert $770.50. The total expenses, most of which were for newspaper advertising, were $151.57. Miss Garden's manager paid $100 of these expenses, and the Tuberculosis Camp Society paid $31.97, leaving $725.53 as Pine Camp's share. In addition to this, we were allowed the concert proceeds for the program advertisements and other incidental contributions, amounting to $70. So that the treasurer of the Tuberculosis Camp Society received $795.53 as the net profit of the concert."

"Miss Garden's manager, Mr. Johnson, was as liberal as he could have been in settling with the representatives of the society, and said that he would accept any statement that the officers of the society would sign. So we considered that we were in a fair way, and the directors of the Tuberculosis Camp Society were not only pleased, but were very grateful to the public for their support. The concert was a success, and the money made after mature deliberation, was considered a wise thing to do, and would make a similar contract with a like organization if we had the opportunity of doing so."

Asked for No Low Rate.

The manager of an entertainment which will be given at the City Auditorium this month, said yesterday that he had never made application for a reduced rental, notwithstanding the fact that it would be given for the benefit of charity, adding, however, that Inspector Beck had stated that the committee usually made a reduction for all charitable organizations. The manager denied another statement made in the meeting to the effect that costumes would be brought from New York at a special expense, saying that all the performers would pay for their own costumes.

LEE CAMP TABLES

NEW INVITATION

Fails to Consider Proposal to Donate Portraits to Memorial Institute.

HONOR CROSSES PRESENTED

Major Anderson Gives Reminiscences of President Jefferson Davis.

Without debate, R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, Confederate Veterans, last night tabled a request from the trustees of the Confederate Memorial Association that it donate the portraits of the Confederate Memorial Institute soon to be built in this city, and that the camp make its permanent home in the new building.

Lee Camp has several times recently shown its apparent aversion to abandoning its present quarters and moving to the Memorial Institute. At the time the plans were adopted for the building the executive committee of the association extended an invitation to the camp to donate its portraits of executive leaders, but the further proposed that before the final draft of the plans was complete, preparation should be made for a permanent meeting place for Lee Camp in the building. It was not intended that particular date, but only that the camp should indicate its desire to help in making the institute what it is designed to be—a sort of hall of fame. No notice seems to have been taken of the invitation.

Repeated Request.

The paper presented last night by Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellison, the president of the Confederate Memorial Association, was a copy of resolutions adopted at the recent meeting of the trustees of the association. The trustees had endorsed the invitation extended by the association to the Lee Camp, and the Lee Camp had refused to accept the invitation, expressing pleasure that the site for the building had been selected in accordance with the request of Lee Camp, on the grounds of the Soldiers' Home. It was read before the body, and on motion of J. Taylor Ellison, the trustees of the association passed a resolution that the Lee Camp should indicate its desire to accept the invitation.

It is understood that those at the head of the Confederate Memorial Association fear that the unwillingness of Lee Camp to donate its portraits and executive leaders, would have a bad effect elsewhere in securing some material to go into the institute after it is built. It is generally recognized that Lee Camp is the leader and its location and prestige give it a great deal of influence.

Major Anderson Speaks.

Some personal recollections of President Jefferson Davis were presented to the camp by former Attorney-General William A. Anderson last night, preceding the presentation of crosses of honor by the daughters of the Confederacy. Major Anderson told of the occasions on which he had seen the chief magistrate of the Confederate States and paid a high tribute to his personal magnetism, his patriotism and his remarkable force as a speaker.

The crosses were presented by Mrs. Gregory, for Chesterfield Chapter, and by Mrs. Randolph, for Richmond chapter.

The camp received and accepted an invitation to the usual memorial exercises in Petersburg next Friday. Lee Camp will leave for South Richmond at noon of that day.

On behalf of the Daughters of the Confederacy of the Peninsula, Captain John A. Curtis presented an invitation to the camp to leave the Lee Camp in the city, and the exercises next Saturday in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Bethel. This was also accepted.

WILL MAKE PLANS

FOR CITY PRIMARY

Democratic Committee Called to Meet Tuesday Night to Fix Date.

For the purpose of fixing a date for a primary election in Richmond for the nomination of two candidates for the State Senate, five for the House of Delegates and one for the office of City Collector, the City Democratic Committee has been called to meet in the assembly hall at Murphy's Hotel on next Tuesday night. The call was sent out yesterday by Chairman Miles M. Martin and Secretary W. B. Duke.

It will be the duty of the committee at this meeting to decide upon what day the primary shall be held. There can be no reasonable doubt that the same day will be named as that when the United States Senators will be voted on—September 7. There appears to be no sentiment among members of the committee for a separate primary, while the saving of expenses appears for a joint affair.

In addition, a date will be set up to which time candidates for the various offices may file their names. This is likely to be put at some day early in July. The assessment against each candidate will be decided upon at the same time. It is likely that the State Democratic Committee has been asked for $500 for Richmond, to come from the candidates for United States Senate, and the local candidates will be called on for the remainder of a similar amount.

As to South Richmond, the probabilities are that the situation there will be let alone. While old Manchester has been annexed to Richmond, the boundaries of the legislative districts have not been changed, and it is altogether likely that Manchester, Chesterfield and Powhatan together will elect a member of the House as heretofore, leaving readjustment of the situation to the next Legislature. Therefore, the Southside is likely to fight either in the primary or in the November election so far as Richmond's representatives in the Legislature are concerned.

The candidates so far are as follows:

State Senate—Arthur C. Harman and E. C. Polkes (incumbents).

House of Delegates—John A. Curtis, John S. Harwood and Edwin P. Cox (incumbents), and James J. Creamer. It is understood that Hill Montague will also be a candidate.

No avowed candidate has as yet appeared for the unexpected term of the late Frank W. Cunningham as City Collector, which is to be filled in November, and the party candidate for which will be chosen at the coming primary.

BRIDGE CONTRACT

READY TO SIGN

Smith Agrees to Paving Change, and Document Goes Now to Expert.

Differences between the city and the contracting firm of J. J. Smith & Co., to which was awarded the contract for the new Mayo Bridge, were practically adjusted at a conference held in the office of City Engineer Bolling yesterday morning, at which Mr. Smith, J. J. Smith, Chairman Adams, of the Street Committee, and others were present. Mr. Bolling reiterated objections he had advanced before the Finance Committee to smooth paving on the bridge, which is to be paved with subject to spray, dampness and all kinds of moisture, which would make it slippery for heavy teaming. Mr. Smith finally agreed to substitute Belgian block paving, as demanded, at the price approved by the Council, $8,000, the blocks to be laid on a six-inch rolled sand cushion, instead of on concrete, as heretofore proposed, when the price was placed at $16,000. Mr. Smith also relinquished his claim to the rails and other equipment, which the City Attorney has held to be the property of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, and therefore beyond the power of the city to turn over to the contractor with other salvage in the old bridge.

At the suggestion of Mr. Bolling, the final draft of the contract was sent yesterday to Consulting Engineer Wilson, of Cleveland, Ohio, who, with Colonel C. P. E. Burge and Mr. Bolling, served as adviser of the Street Committee in making the award. Mr. Bolling said that Mr. Watson's large experience in bridge building contemplated in the contract as drawn, and that it was best to have every possible contingency in a definite agreement before the work begins. It is within a few days, and the formal agreement executed by Chairman Adams, for the city, and by Mr. Smith, for the contracting firm. Mr. Smith stated that he was ready to begin clearing the site the day the contract is finally signed.

HOUSE COLLAPSED

DEPUTY BUILDING INSPECTOR HURRIES INMATES OUT JUST IN TIME

Within an hour after Deputy Building Inspector Wharton had condemned a house at 502 West Main Street yesterday morning and notified inmates to vacate a portion of the room, the building collapsed, and the inmates were hurriedly rescued by the Building Inspector, last night.

Complained of the condition of the two houses, 502 and 504 West Main Streets, and finding that repairs had been made, Deputy Wharton was recently instructed to keep a close watch on the property, especially the front of the building, and to have the inmates leave at once. The front wall was evidently settling, and its collapse was hastened by every passing car and wagon.

RESERVES DECISION

Argument Finished in Pawnbrokers' Fight for Right to Sell Weapons

Argument on the application of the Ellner Brothers, pawnbrokers, for a mandamus to compel Commissioner of Revenue Hawley to issue a permit to sell weapons, was concluded yesterday in the Hustings Court, and Judge Witt reserved decision. City Attorney Pollard and Commonwealth Attorney Polkes were heard against the application yesterday.

The application for the mandamus is made to test the constitutionality of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council prohibiting the sale of deadly weapons by pawnbrokers, all of whom are interested in the present fight. The case will probably go to the Supreme Court in any event.

WINS RELEASE BY

SIGNING PLEDGE

Higgins Takes Water Wagon in Preference to Staying in Jail.

COULD NOT GET VIRGINIAN

Efforts of Militia Officials Unsuccessful—New Bulletin on Insects.

Conditional pardons by the water wagon route bid to become popular at the Governor's office. This is applied, however, only to minor offenders who got into trouble by lingering too long at the flowing bowl, and will not, of course, be an incentive to clemency in the matter of graver offenses.

The latest individual to sign the pledge to remain in jail for a term of six months in the city jail for an offense which seems to have been a sort of technical housebreaking, Higgins, it appears, had imbibed just the amount necessary to convince him that he ought to have more, and to leave no other impression on his mind, so he tried to get it by illegal means.

The application for a conditional pardon was endorsed by Judge S. S. Witt and by Commonwealth Attorney Minnie Folkes. Higgins promises to never again indulge in the cup which inebriates considerably more than it cheers, and it is the understanding that if he takes a drink he goes back to jail to serve out the remainder of his sentence.

ROCKED WINNIE INTO THE JAMES

Winnie Began to Rock Boat as Others Sang "Rock Me to Sleep."

Singing "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother; Rock Me to Sleep," the friends of Winnie Miller (colored), of 25 Wood Street, who had taken her out for a row on the river, rocked the boat in accompaniment to the song yesterday afternoon, and rocked Winnie into the water. There was great disturbance in the bosom of the placid stream, for Winnie kicked out, struggled and strangled and shrieked for two counties to hear.

When the woman slid into the water she retained presence of mind enough to grasp the side of the boat, and there she clung with desperate energy as she attempted to get out of the water. When she ceased struggling and the strains of the song had died into a distant echo, her sister and friends drew her in. She collapsed in the bottom of the boat, and they rowed to shore with all possible haste. There was no more singing, no more rocking. It was a straight pull and a long pull for terra firma.

When Winnie set foot upon dry land once more she gave up a sigh as if she were giving up the ghost, and sank into a heap on the sand. The city ambulance was called, and Dr. Turman restored the woman to consciousness. He had no dry feminine garments to clothe her in, and so took her home, where she made the necessary change. After delivering a lecture on the evils of drinking, the physician left. Winnie was now rowing no more.

PREPARING INDICTMENT

Grand Jury Expected to Return True Bill Against L. E. Gregory

Commonwealth's Attorney Minnie Folkes yesterday afternoon prepared the papers for the expected indictment of Louis L. Gregory, the absconding freight cashier of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. The grand jury meets on Monday, and that Gregory will be indicted goes without saying. Folkes had a private conference with the American Surety Company, and officials of the railroad company were present.

Begin Work for Boys.

The boys' settlement work, as organized under the auspices of the Associated Charities, will begin to-night in the Associated Charities building, and all boys interested are expected to be present at 7 o'clock. Classes will be started, and an indoor baseball league will be formed.

Dr. Hoskins at Memorial.

Dr. William Hoskins, of Newport News, is a patient at the Memorial Hospital, having arrived there on Thursday. He is a brother to Mrs. A. J. Montague.

Judgment Entered.

Verdict and judgment were entered yesterday in the City Circuit Court in the suit of the Cable Piano Company against D. C. Marshall in the sum of $251.

BULLETIN ON INSECTS

Department of Agriculture Will Issue Information on Tests

The June bulletin of the Department of Agriculture will treat especially of insects and their control. Recently Commissioner of Agriculture, who has in this publication, which heretofore contained only the results of fertilizer tests. Now there are articles on timely subjects relative to farming.

The material for the forthcoming publication was prepared by Chief Clerk Charles A. Miller, treats of various insects which are injurious to crops, including those which attack potatoes, cabbage, grapes, tomatoes and roses.

Corporations Are Cited.

Rules were issued by the State Corporation Commission against two corporations for failure to make reports of their annual meetings and election of officers, as required by law. The rules are returnable on June 21. One is a foreign corporation, the Illinois Surety Company, whose statutory agent is Murray M. McGuire, of Richmond, and the other is the Woodstock Iron and Steel Corporation, whose president is Ernest Williams, of Lynchburg.

Regulation Honored.

A regulation was honored yesterday by Governor Mann from the Governor of Missouri, for one Charles Hayes, a negro, who is wanted for the murder of Ethel Gibson, Missouri officers found that Hayes had a brother in Smyth county, this State, and on making inquiries learned the missing man was there. He has been arrested and is in jail at Marion.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the State Tax Commission, which had been called for next Monday, has been indefinitely postponed. This was done because of the absence from the city of speaker R. B. Byrd.

French Fire Insurance Applies.

The Union Fire Insurance Company, of Paris, with a capital of 10,000,000 francs, has applied for license to do business in Virginia. Bonds were deposited yesterday by the Bureau of Insurance with the Treasurer of Virginia.

The bureau yesterday licensed the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Boston. This is the oldest life insurance company in America. Charles E. Wortham, Jr., of Richmond, is the statutory agent.

Capital Increased.

A fee of $510 was earned yesterday by the State Corporation Commission in granting an increase of authorized capital stock to the United Chemical and Nickel Corporation, of Christiansburg, Va., from $300,000 to $1,000,000.

Governor Aways.

Governor Mann left yesterday afternoon by way of Old Point for Kingsdale, in Westmoreland county, where he will to-day make an address at a celebration of the Daughters of the Confederacy. He hopes to be able to get back to the city to-night.

MISS CALLY RYLAND IN THE NEWS

Leader on the New Theatre—

"It seems a very undignified protest that the churches are putting up against the theatres in this city.

There isn't any possible way in which a church and a theatre could interfere with each other, unless the theatre concluded to give Sunday morning performances. Then the church would have to put up a bold fight for a congregation. A decent, well-behaved theatre ought to be as good a neighbor as a decent, well-behaved church could possibly have.

Theatres and churches don't run on the same schedule, so to speak. They don't offer the same attractions; they don't keep the same hours, they don't always attract the same people, more's the pity. It's a sort of confession of weakness for a church to try to elbow a theatre off of its block, unless the theatre were a noisy, rowdy sort of affair that attracted the lowest element.

Certainly, if any two brethren could afford to dwell together in unity it appears—to the lay mind—that it should be a church and a theatre."

POLICE COULDN'T STOP WEDDING

Miss Botto's Father Finds That Washington Force Had No Power.

In spite of the efforts of a disappointed parent to have the Washington police interfere and put an end to love's dream, Miss Margaret Botto, daughter of James Botto, president of the Helena Club, and well known on Church Hill, was married in Washington yesterday afternoon to Charles Hirschberg, a German attached to Engine Company No. 1, near Twentieth and Main Streets.

Plans for the elopement had been carefully made, and there seems not to have been a single hitch in the program. Mr. Hirschberg, with a quantity of foresight, left on an early train for Washington so as to have the license in hand when the bride-to-be arrived. She followed on the noon train, her parents being left under the impression that she was going to Petersburg on a visit. They learned afterwards of her true destination, and Mr. Botto at once repaired to police headquarters to enlist the aid of Major Werner. The Chief of Police talked with the Washington authorities over the long-distance telephone, as it was stated by Mr. Botto that his daughter was not of age. However, it seems from a telegram received later by Major Werner that the young woman was old enough in the eyes of Washington law, for the communication stated that the police could not interfere.

The telegram stated that the couple were married about 5 o'clock by Father Carroll, of St. Patrick's Church. Mr. Hirschberg is on a furlough, so it is supposed that a honeymoon will follow. Parental forgiveness is expected on the return of the happy pair. Mrs. Hirschberg is a sister to Evelyn Hirschman, W. J. Botto, of the Second District.

MANY LABOR MEN

DESIRE OFFICES

Lively Campaign for Posts of Honor in Virginia Federation Next Week.

Lively campaigning is already in progress for election to the different offices to be filled by the Virginia Federation of Labor, which will meet in annual session in this city next Tuesday, and will probably continue for four days. Several men are proposed for the presidency, and their friends are campaigning with a vigor. Nor will the office of secretary be allowed to go begging.

It is believed that J. H. Epperson, of Portsmouth, now the president of the Federation, will be a candidate to succeed himself. He will, according to reports, be opposed by Howard E. Colvin, of Alexandria; Philip Metz, of Richmond; W. E. Nickols, of Roanoke, and probably also by candidates from Norfolk and Newport News. An exciting election is anticipated.

M. R. Pace, the secretary and treasurer, will be opposed for re-election by Emmett C. Davison, who has many friends throughout the State, and who will put up a strong fight.

Will Choose Delegate.

Another lively contest will be over the election of a delegate to the American Federation of Labor, and the Blakey, of this city, is a candidate, and there will be others, James J. Creamer was the last delegate, but has not announced his candidacy for the honor again.

About 100 delegates will be in attendance at the meeting, which will be held in the assembly hall of Murphy's Hotel. If the usual custom is followed, the meetings will be open, representatives of the press being admitted.

Addresses of welcome at the opening session on Tuesday morning at 10:30 will be delivered by Governor W. H. Mann, Mayor D. C. Richardson, Colonel John S. Harwood and John A. Lamb. The response will be by President Epperson.

The annual banquet will be at Murphy's Hotel on Wednesday night, when a number of invited guests will be present and will speak.

Several women delegates have been elected to represent the garment workers. Fraternal delegates will be present from the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Association and from the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia.

ARRESTS YESTERDAY

Josephine Page, Colored, Charged With Stealing a Ring.

Josephine Page, colored, was arrested last night on a charge of stealing a ring from John W. Scott. She was arrested several days ago by Detective Sergeant Kellam and Detective Krenzel as a suspicious character, but it was not until yesterday that she was able to procure enough evidence on which to base a warrant.

Ben Mayo, colored, was arrested on a charge of stealing a coat and vest from David Freeman.

Early Lyons, colored, was taken in on a charge of being disorderly in Gamble's Hill Park.

Hurt in Railroad Yards.

Walter Davis, colored, of 382 1/2 Second Street, Fulton, was badly injured in the left leg yesterday afternoon while working in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway yards. The leg was badly wrenched and, fearing that a bone might have been broken, Dr. Turman, of the city ambulance, who was called to attend to Davis, took him to the William Byrd Hospital.
